1850-1950 Lehi Centennial History

Pearl Davis Broomhead, daughter of Elisha H. Davis Jr., of Lehi, Utah and Sarah Ellen Stewart of Pleasant Grove was born August 8, 1876 in Lehi, Utah.

Her early years passed in a happy normal way. She met womanhood with a challenge, learning to work, sharing responsibilities, making most of opportunities, selecting friends, religious convictions, and love for others, giving of time and talents.

At the age of eighteen, she was chosen as organist for Lehi Sunday School and one year later, organist of the Lehi choir with Isaac Fox as chorister. These positions she held for many years. She was also a Sunday School teacher and was counselor to Mrs. Sarah Taylor Evans in the Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association for five years. Later and after Lehi Ward was divided, she was a member and class leader of the Genealogical Committee several years. She was a worker in the Relief Society and Primary. Positions also held in Alpine Stake were : Primary Board Member for thirteen years and Stake Genealogical Board member for two years.

Her chosen profession was dressmaking and teaching the art of sewing. She was a practical nurse assisting in bringing many babies into the world. Later years she had accomplished much in Genealogical research and Temple work. She has had the opportunity of visiting church scenes in Nauvoo and Carthage, Illinois and Independence, Missouri gathering genealogy.

She, with her husband, Alfred J. Broomhead, also visited in California, Oregon and Washington, where more genealogy was obtained. She is a member of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers organization.

Chosen Hobby Art: China, Oil and Water Painting.
